Secretary C. P. NEW STORM THREATENED

Several Lives Lost and Great Damage Bone in California.

San Francisco, January 1.—A new storm on the heels of the one that departed last night, after causiing damage to property over a wide area of the State and the loss of several lives, is reported by the Weather Bureau as centring over the Columbia River region to-day, and moving rapidly castward and southward. No additional loss of life has been reported. It is expected to reach Northern and Central California to-night.

Transportation lines throughout Central California continue demoralized, but temporary cessation of the storm brought relief to areas threatened by floods, especially the Sacramento Valley.—The Sacramento River, which reached a high stage of almost twenty-seven feet to-day, is receding.

The town of Cilroy, near San Jose, is under a foot of water, caused by the overflowing of a creek. Residents fled from their homes in the night.

Traffic on the Southern Pacific coast line is suspended because of the washout of 500 feet of track near San Jose.

The regulations also provide for lifting, under certain conditions, the quarantine enforced against most of the potato-growing regions of the world. Upon the presentation of satisfactory evidence that a country is free from injurious potato diseases and insect pests potatoes will be admitted in accordance with regulations governing importations from countries not now quarantined against.
